Include the fact that
Brewery brews are getting better.
As times goes by and the days grow shorter.
We just became conscious of the trick
Al Jolson and Walter Winchell pulled in Hollywood on an easy-going public.
Both were fading rapidly from the public horizon
So they framed and staged a fist fight
Outside of the prize ring before a fight crowd
And now the magazines can hardly find room for
All the junk sub-sisters and hack writers are Turning in about them.
When we feel that we have lost our grip
So to speak, as Richmond's greatest columnist
We'll send for Greta Garbo and pull a

RODEO MAN BREAKS BACK

Earl Gomez, chief of the Rodeo volunteer fire department, was in Hospital Richmond this morning with a broken back and possible internal injuries.
Gomez suffered his serious hurts when he fell from a hay wagon late yesterday at the Gomez ranch east of Rodeo.
A late check this morning indicated that while his injuries were most painful he had a good chance to survive them.
Gomez, brother of the famous "Lefty" of baseball circles, also is president of the Rodeo Sanitary board and a member of numerous fraternal organizations in that town where he has made his home all his life.
He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gomez, Contra Costa county pioneers.
Gomez is said to have been loading the hay wagon with loose hay and was on top of a round-bale stack when he lost his balance and fell to the ground.
He was rendered unconscious according to witnesses, and remained in a state of coma until after his arrival at the Richmond hospital.

WOUNDED BURGLAR CONFESSES CRIMES

MAY DIE AS RESULT OF POLICE GUN

The wounding of William Wright, alias Frank Steele, 43, colored, by a local patrolman early yesterday morning seems to have solved many of the burglary jobs that have been perpetrated in Richmond and the east bay region within the past few months.
Wright was discovered at 2:35 a. m. crouching in the shadows of a rear door near Sixteenth and Macdonald by Sergeant Frank Fray and Patrolman J. E. Kynoch who were making the rounds in the vicinity.
Starts to Run
He started to run, disregarding the order to halt given by Fray. The latter fired several shots in the air. These failing to stop the fugitive, Fray leveled the gun and fired, striking him through the chest.
Running through an alley and out on Macdonald avenue, he turned onto Sixteenth street and collapsed a few yards away. In his flight he threw into the street a .32 caliber pistol which he had been carrying.
At a local hospital he received treatment and was taken to the county hospital at Martinez late yesterday afternoon. He is said to still be in a precarious condition.
Confesses Crimes
After questioning by Chief of Police L. E. Jones, he is said to have confessed a number of crimes, including the robbery of the George Morrison home here on March 7. In this job the burglar obtained over $500 worth of silver.
Portions of this loot had been uncovered by Chief Jones in an Oakland pawn shop. The chief had at the same time received a description of the man who pawned the articles.
The description tallied with Wright's appearance and in pawnshop articles, he had given the Steele alias.
The Negro is also said to have admitted two entries of a grocery store on Thirty-seventh street in which he obtained cigarettes, candies and such.
Long Record
His record reveals that he was admitted to Folsom state prison on January 29, 1924. He was sent up from Los Angeles on convictions of first degree burglary and grand larceny.
He was paroled from the prison in November, 1929, and discharged while on parole in January, 1931.
He is also thought to have other criminal convictions.
Used Brace and Bit
His method of operation is believed to have been always with a brace and bit. This way of entering establishments connects him with more than six crimes in Richmond and approximately 17 entries in the bay region.
When he was captured by Fray and Kynoch yesterday, he was found to have the brace and bit strapped to his back under his coat. Another bit found at his Oakland address corresponded to the holes cut in other robberies and robbery attempts here.
Former Bootblack
According to reports, he worked as a bootblack in a local barber shop until March. He then moved to Oakland and returned here on various occasions for jobs which he had lined up during his residence in the city.
Due to the many charges against him, it is believed that if he recovers he will face life imprisonment.

Advocates Of Income Tax Warn Rolph Of Dangers Behind Veto

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 10.—UP—Vicious attacks against the proposed state income tax were partially offset today by the warning of J. Stitt Wilson, former socialist mayor of Berkeley, that if the income tax measure were vetoed, farm and labor elements might retaliate by undertaking a referendum against the 2-1-2 per cent sales tax.
Governor Rolph, holding a hearing on the income tax bill passed by the legislature during its midsummer session, heard two main arguments for and against the measure.
Opponents, led by Byron C. Hanson of Los Angeles, Elmer Burns, Santa Ana and H. W. Paul, Long Beach, contended the "tax" would rob the state of its source of development, now investments from outside the state and new residents—and that it would tend to drive out many citizens who came here because incomes were exempt from state taxation.
Held Destructive
Hanson claimed the tax was economically destructive, penalized enterprise and initiative, favored dominant capital, destroyed wealth, and would require excessive administrative costs. He asked that the bill be vetoed.
Assemblyman P. C. Cloudsley, author of the bill, charged certain rich publishers had deliberately misrepresented the state and misrepresented the issue.
Van T. Ellsworth, representing the California farm bureau federation, warned that a veto would require the legislature to return and increase the sales tax or levy an ad valorem tax.
Wilson Leads Farmers
Wilson led the farm and labor leaders urging Governor Rolph to sign the measure.
"Poor people are paying a one-cent tax on a 15-cent purchase, to pay a $100,000 for the state," he said. "While a wealthy person is paying a penny on a $10,000, and a $100,000 in income tax."
The governor, who took no part in the discussion and he would take the matter under advisement.

Her interest in the swimmers in the bay drew her attention from her position. She lost her footing and tumbled down the entire length of the embankment.

Just A Hell-Hole

"EAGLE BEER HALL"
An innocent name on the face of it, but behind that sign, which appears on a building in "No Man's Land" just to the right as you turn off of Panhandle boulevard on to San Pablo avenue, near the county line, is a den of infamy, that has recently been opened up.
There has been no blare of trumpets over the opening, you would not expect it, but the place is operating every night.
Outsiders have come into this county, with the brazen idea, that they can get away with what is going on, inside of that new building, that was recently erected.
Ostensibly the joint is operated by a white man, but in the offering you will always find a number of Chinese.
Practically every illegal form of amusement is supplied in this "speakeasy."
If you want to get separated from your money, there is every opportunity provided for you.
If your inclinations are for Chuck-a-luck, it is there.
If you favor Black-Jack, you can join with others in the games.
If your get-rich-quick mind suggests a Chinese lottery it is said there is nothing that will prevent you from buying a ticket.
Then here and there, there are tables, and after you have been separated from most of your money, you can sit down at one of them, order a glass of beer, and while you are consuming it, and eating pretzels, you have plenty of opportunity to realize how easily a sucker is relieved of his money.
Hard liquor, in violation of the federal law? Yes, some say that it is also being served.
The joint is not only open to men, but women as well, and reports that emanate from the "speakeasy" tell of all kinds of wild orgies.
This new American-Chinese hell hole, is not the only one that is operating in what is known as "No Man's Land" section.
True, these places are not in Richmond, neither are they in El Cerrito, but the state law applies to them just the same.
If the proper authorities cannot cope with them, it is very possible that an "A-B-C society, similar to what exists in Cuba, may get rid of these festering sores, in its own peculiar manner.

WALLACE BEERY HIT OPENS AT THE RICHMOND

"Flesh" with Wallace Beery as star, opens today at the Richmond theater.

Beery has a powerful role, comedy and pathos giving him plentiful opportunity to display his versatile talents in this story of the wrestling ring.

It will be recalled that Beery scored the biggest hit of his career in another drama of the sport world, "The Champ," in recognition of the popularity of this type of role, Metro Goldwyn Mayer selected "Flesh" as his new vehicle.

Beery's Strongest Role

While retaining the virility of the prize-fighter story, this vivid drama of another phase of sport has in it the coloring of Beery's portrayal in "The Big House" plus something of the characterization in "Grand Hotel."

As Her Pollock, Beery plays a

REAL THRILLER IN SIX REELS AT FOX TODAY

One of those big melodramatic pictures with plenty of wrap and movement, playing for a change, is what they say is "Below the Sea," a Columbia drama now playing at the Fox theater.

For breath of action, for thrills, it takes first rank in the recent action. At times it holds the audience in breath, and at other times it brings situations to a head.

Briefly the story has to do with a scientific expedition in the tropical waters, backed by a model young millionaire, portrayed in the lively Fay Wray.

Around his yacht is a former German submarine commander, who secretly is seeking out a treasure, a specimen from the bottom of the ocean, but golden treasure that went down with his boat.

This part is in the hands of a newcomer to the American screen, Fredrik Veeding, who is well known in Europe as a most successful actor.

Also seeking the gold is an American diver, Ralph Bellamy, whose young, virile and brave nature is a hundred parts, portrays this individual.

Bather Howard, likewise new to pictures but of wide fame in musical comedy, is a child who is after the treasure, all unknown to the scientists. She plots with the German against the diver.

The highpoint of the picture comes when the young millionaire and a companion in a diving bell on the ocean are attacked by a huge octopus, and are saved after a thrilling fight between the diver and the chthonian monster.

B. Hany, as the tough and ready likeable diver, is splendid, and so, too, is the newcomer, Veeding, in the villainous role as the U-boat skipper.

It would seem that he has a chance to go far in Hollywood. Miss Wray, besides being beautiful, gives a first-class performance as the spoiled child who eventually comes to recognize real worth when she meets it.

Father and Son Day Started By Sox Ball Club

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 - UP - Chicago's White Sox will inaugurate a "father and son" day Saturday, and if the experiment is successful, will make it a regular baseball feature, Vice President Harry Grabiner announced today.

Fathers who buy tickets for the game with the Detroit Tigers Saturday will be permitted to take one son each into the grandstand with them, free of charge. The plan is believed to be an innovation in major league circles.

The "Big Game" will be included in a season ticket, which will sell for $110.00 including the Federal tax and which carries with it an option on a second ticket to the "Big Game" at the regular admission price, $11.00.

A second season ticket selling for $70.00 without additional tax includes all the privileges of the $110.00 ticket except the "Big Game." Its total value is $110.00, 25 percent more than the other price that tickets are available to the public now.

"This is the greatest reduction we have ever offered in season tickets," Grabiner declared today.

White prices for the St. Mary's Southern (California), Washington and Stanford games have been cut far below the level of other years, the highest saving offered the public in the season ticket.

"As a matter of dollars and cents, it is impossible to see all of California's home games at the same prices as the total cost of the four most popular games on our schedule," Santa Clara, St. Mary's, Southern (California) and Washington, which means that the balance of the schedule costs season ticket holders nothing."

St. Mary's game tickets will sell for $1.75 including tax; the total price last years was $2.20. The Southern California game has been cut from $3.50 (1933 price, the last time the game was at Berkeley), to $2.50, tax included. The Washington game will be cut from the 1931 price of $2.00 to $1.55, tax included.

And the "Big Game" as previously announced, will be $4.00, with no additional tax to pay. All other varsity games at Berkeley will be $1.10 with two freshmen games at 55c.

These games are: Varsity vs. Santa Clara, Cal Aggies and Nevada (double header), Olympic club and Idaho; Freshmen vs. Southern Cal.

LOCAL BREWERY TO BE PUT IN WORKING ORDER

Remodeling has begun on what had almost grown to be a Richmond landmark, the old Golden West brewery at the corner of Esplanade and Chandler avenue.

Stephen A. Bellow of Richmond, agent in this district for the Golden West brewing firm and distributor for the Golden Glow beer is owner of the property.

He plans to remodel the building entirely, installing a new and modern cooling system and storage plant.

The work is in the hands of a Richmond contractor and will be done entirely by local men.

The old structure was erected in 1905 by the Golden West Brewing company and until the advent of prohibition manufactured the famous Golden West steam beer. The establishment was directed by Joseph Raspieller, former local brewmaster, who now resides in Berkeley.

Heavy hooped Percherons, drawing heavily laden wagons loaded with the thick wooden kegs mingled with the snappy rubber tired buggies and surreys which made up the greater part of the traffic along Macdonald avenue during the naive decade.

Scanning old account books, the names of such places as the Kentucky Bar, The Hunter's Home, The Cottage Inn, and Mike Lacey's appeared as customers.

In tearing out the old cooling system today, carpenters were halted temporarily in their work by ammonia fumes which still remained in the old pipes.

Among the almost forgotten objects unearthed in the dusty interior were included the following: Six horse collars, one iron wheel shoe, an iron derby, a moustache cup, several buggy whips and a set of harness.

Free Beer Spigot

A famous feature of the establishment was the shiny brass spigot which projected from the wall at which free glasses of the booming beverage could be drawn free of charge at any time by visitors. Needless to say, the brewery was never in want of curious visitors anxious to inspect the working of the plant.

Plans to remove the upper story of the building and construct an apartment dwelling in its place. Half of the upper area will be devoted to the apartment and the other half to a roof garden.

When finished the home will be one of the most attractive and unique in Richmond. The whole exterior will be finished in stucco, and the garden will be glassed in. A service station is being planned for the ground floor.

Nine local men are employed at present in the construction.

Visitors Leave Local Home

STAMP BOOKS FOR SALES TAX MAY BE ISSUED

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 10.—Issuance of stamp books to equalize the fraction-of-a-cent problem of the state sales tax was being considered today by Professor Roger Traynor, chief of the sales tax division.

Under the proposal, books of the stamps, of one-eighth cent denomination, would be made available to the public in certain public offices and retail shops.

The stamps would probably be sold in books of 200, costing 25 cents.

One-eighth of a cent is the exact tax on a 5-cent purchase. On all purchases from 5 to 35 cents, one stamp for each 5 cents would be detached from the book and given to the retailer on purchase of 40 cents the buyer would pay one cent in money.

On purchases over 40 cents and under 80 cents the buyer would pay a cent plus the requisite number of stamps. Over 80 cents and under $1.20, it would be two cents plus stamps, and so on.

Other provisions.

The plan further provides that each quarter retailers would remit the stamps to the State Board of Equalization in partial payment of the sales tax, making up the balance in money.

Professor Traynor and Deputy State Attorney Gen. H. H. Linney approved the stamp plan in theory yesterday after an all day conference on the sales tax.

Other decisions reached at the conference included: that sales to the Federal government or by stores on Federal property are exempt; that sales to the State and political subdivisions are taxable; that sales to meet performance of contracts entered into prior to August 1 are exempt.

In pointing out to our readers those firms which render a complete service in their respective lines of businesses, we have endeavored to tell you of only those which we know to be always reliable in service, quality and consistent pricing.

Of course here in Richmond we have many grocery stores and markets, who handle many lines of products, but one that we know is outstanding in service, quality and prices is the PEOPLES FOOD MARKET which is located at 2114 Macdonald avenue.

There are markets and markets in Richmond, yet the Peoples Food Market is all the name implies, they have one of the most complete stocks carried in the city and each department is complete within itself all under one roof. MEATS, FRESH FISH, GROCERIES, FRUIT and VEGETABLES and they thoroughly understand what the trade demands in these lines of business.

First of all the Building of the Peoples Food Market is modern and up-to-date space in each department is devoted to the neat display of all the products, sanitary counters and display cases enable customers to see the food stuffs and give them a wide selection from which to choose.

Secondly the personnel of the Peoples Food Market appreciates your patronage and want to give you a friendly helpful service, there is no delay in taking your order, which is filled by a neat affable clerk, and then placed in your car if you desire.

This store has joined with the President of the United States on the NRA program and is lending their efforts to make Richmond 10 percent an NRA community realizing that only full co-operation will make the President's proclamation a success.

Now perhaps we could say the same things about any other market; yet we feel that the Peoples Food Market offers the people of Richmond and surrounding area a trading center that cannot be duplicated. ### Eye-Care Is Essential While Motoring. Colored Glasses Protects Them

THESE are the days when we start in the morning to drive one, two, three, even four hundred miles a day. We are madly speeding to get nowhere and often have nothing to do when we get there except to get ready to go some place else. One, two or three hundred miles of white, glaring concrete, black macadam or gray dusty gravel. The eye is a wonderful mechanism to stand such a steady strain, hour after hour, of glare on the road, curves, hills, other cars darting in and out. Dust, stones, insects, wind cutting in around the windshield, and nothing to save the eye save the driver's own hardihood, except the wonderful unconscious up and down play of the eye lids and eye wipers.

SURELY we should give the eye some special considerations and afford it some protection against this violence. Every one who goes on a long motor trip should wear a pair of tinted glasses, even though your eyes are protected by glasses for vision. Not only the driver of the car but each one in it should have them because in spite of our intention, we all watch the road and traffic much of the time. Bugs and grit and dirt drive into the eyes of the car as well as the front.

IN CHOOSING a pair of tinted glasses, don't just take any pair you can afford or can acquire cheaply. Select them carefully, see that they fit your face and stand squarely before your eyes. See that they do not distort objects, that they give you a clear color vision of red, green and yellow light, that they do not strain the eyes. In fact, tinted glasses should be as carefully and skillfully fitted to the eye as any other spectacles. If you do this, you will find that you will have much less headache and eye burning and will be much less tired physically when the day's drive is over.

BEFORE you start the day, bathe the eyes for a few moments with cold water and at night bathe them again with both hot water and cold applications in plain water, or if they are burning and itching, bathe them with warm salt water or tea. Warm water in which some boric acid has been dissolved. You cannot dissolve too much boric acid, but for salt water a teaspoonful to a pint of water is sufficient. If anything gets into the eye and hurts do not rub the eye and pick at it. You may scratch the eyeball and start an ulceration.

STOP the car at once, and get the offending object out of the eye. Raising the upper lid and pulling the eyeball back and forth will often allow the cause to clear the offending particle out. If that does not do have some one raise the upper lid and with the corner of a clean handkerchief or small piece of cotton on an applicator or match stick remove the cause of trouble. If it continues to hurt after removal, tie a handkerchief over the eye and keep it quiet for a while. Time taken out to allow the eye to recover will not be wasted.

SHOULD it be impossible to remove the object from the eye stop at the nearest available doctor and have the case properly treated. Take no risks. Many serious results are caused by the blurring of the vision of one or both eyes due to some irritation. Prompt treatment too, will be greatly relieved if proper care is given to the eyes.

Winged Silhouette

The most popular conception of the winged silhouette has the wings "taking flight," but there is an "at rest" pose of these wings that provides another variation of the wide shoulder silhouette. These quiet wings result in an effect that can best be described as bretelles, for in the way they are set on, as separate pieces extending vertically from shoulder to waistline, they suggest the braces or suspenders which translate the French "bretelles."

In admitting bretelles into the plan of the silhouette, we are acknowledging a new element in the outline—namely, the continuation of width through the bustline as well as the shoulders.

BEAUTIFY EYES BY SKILFUL USE OF COSMETICS

By JACQUELINE HUNT

WHAT is the first thing you notice when you are introduced to strangers? If you are like the majority of us, you notice their eyes. Eyes can be such infinite, endearing things or they can be so harsh and bitter they chill the very soul. They tell you immediately whether you are the owner or not. They reveal other things, too. They tell about the physical and well-being, the personality and the fastidiousness of their owner.

It is not the expressiveness of the eyes alone that impresses others, but their beauty. If you have beautiful eyes and expressive eyes, nothing else matters—much. And most of you can have lovely eyes. Proper make-up will make you look as though you have been visited by a fairy godmother. Skillful use of eyebrow pencil, shadow and mascara will transform ordinary eyes into baffling, luscious orbs.

Emphasis is being put more and more on eye make-up. Perhaps it is because rouge, powder and lipstick are being used so freely and skilfully that color and skin texture are taken more or less for granted. Eye make-up does something else when it is properly done. It adds glamour.

Of course the eyes must be healthy, but in most cases good physical health and a little extra care, such as the nightly use of a good eyewash or warm boric acid solution will make your eyes more clear and brilliant and will strengthen eyes that tend to become tired or bloodshot easily. Scientific exercises will also improve the condition of your eyes and brighten them by relieving tired and strengthening the eye muscles.

But it is make-up that we are concerned about mostly today, especially since so many of you have sun-browned skins and dark, sunken eyes. A little make-up tends to make your eyes appear smaller and less brilliant. Look at your eyebrows first. After all they are the upward frame for your eyes, for all your face, and they must be definite.

Perfectly formed eyebrows, whether they are made that way by nature or by your own deft fingers must, follow the bony arch of your eye sockets and be shaped like a broad, shallow arch. If your eyebrows are too heavy or too dark they give the eyes a blurred, heavy appearance and they will over-balance a nicely proportioned mouth and nose. If your eyebrows are too thin or too light in color they give the eyes a dull, don't care expression and rob the entire face of interest. A charming personality will not get very far with such a handicap.

You want an alert, wide-awake and interested-in-everything-around-you expression. That is what makes the woman of today so charming and so successful in their business and social world. Shape your eye brows to give your face proportion and to give your eyes sufficient prominence. The shape or placement of your eyes have little to do with your beauty if you can create the illusion of balance, and you can do it easily enough with a little study and your eyebrow pencil.

There can be no set rules for shaping the brows and using your eye make-up since each problem is an individual one. General suggestions can be given, however, but even these must be tried out and varied according to the effect you wish to create and according to the shape and placement of your eyes. I'll have those suggestions for you in tomorrow's column.

MODES AND MANNERS

QUESTION: "If a girl is dancing with a young man who holds her too tight and whose manner is entirely too intimate to suit her, how can she leave him without being conspicuous?"

ANSWER: In such a case a girl is perfectly justified in cutting the dance short before it is over. As an excuse, she may offer any pretext which occurs to her at the moment. But it would be a good idea to think of some excuse which has been discussed in the room, and by the time she returns he will have had time to find himself another partner. At any rate, she will be at liberty to refuse to dance with him should he ask her again.

:: SPEAKING OF STYLE ::

Copyright, 1933, by Fairchild. A crossed sash bodice features the "dresmaker suit" of left. The top-knitted suit at right looks like hand-knit and is decorated with "button-hole" edge. The third figure at top wears a dressmaker's suit of white rayon satin with a black robe of heavy linen.

New York—All God's Children are coming in. We—this not the case, dress-makers would have to resort to artificial support for these perky sleeves. As a matter of fact, they are especially annoying about this time. It naturally follows that if sleeves are going to sprout out in all directions, they must have room, and this is just another way of warning you that your sleeves must be ample enough to accommodate them.

The way designers reverse themselves, and go from curves to straight lines, is rather bewildering. We are just beginning to take our curves with the proper amount of caution when we come to the new line is quite likely to be sharp and angular. Be that as it may, our advice is to keep your mind on the curves, even though by nature we may have rounded enough, and decided to go straight.

At one smart shop, five counter ends are given over to promoting the chosen colors. These include Grape Juice, a rich purple red; Mandarin, a clear deep orange; Butter Red, a deep pink; Sea Glade, a turquoise; and White.

We are expanding our feminine mind to include the "dresmaker suit" of left. A tailored dress and dressmaker coats. A garment that serves as a dress and is still a coat is bound to appeal to the woman who goes in for killing two birds with one stone.

A SALAD TIP FOR HOT DAYS

By JUDITH WILSON

HERE'S a tip for homemakers who have always had difficulty getting their husbands to eat salads. One enthusiastic wife writes, "I think the idea of serving the salad as the first course of the meal is a splendid one for these hot days. I tried it for the first time the other night. Frankly the idea appealed to me because I have tried my best to get my husband interested in salads without results."

"When I read about the new idea of serving salads as the first course, I decided to try it. When we sat down to the table that night, I had a crisp, cold salad at each place. They looked so cool and tempting that every one disappeared in no time and took my word for it. It was the most satisfying and refreshing meal that we have had—so far."

Salad Appetizers
Salads are the best hot weather dishes that you can serve, and if you have had difficulty in making your family eat them in the past, do try the trick of serving them first. Salad appetizers are usually just a little smaller than the ordinary salad—unless you want to serve them as the main part of the meal—these are usually more piquant and stimulating.

Shrimp and Asparagus
For the first time you serve a glass-course salad, try the shrimp and asparagus salad above. Make a dressing from one cup of mayonnaise combined with one-half cup of chili sauce, one-fourth cup of vinegar, two tablespoons of oil. Wash and finely chop the asparagus. Chill the chili-mayonnaise thoroughly before adding to fish or shellfish, salads and cocktails. For all salads, you will need crisp inner leaves of lettuce, twenty-four cooked asparagus tips and one cup of whole cooked shrimp. Arrange the tips and the cooked shrimp on the lettuce leaves, chill and just before serving dress with the chili-mayonnaise.

Molded Salad
The molded salad in the second menu offers an attractive and appetizing method of serving your garden vegetables. Soften two tablespoons of gelatin in one-fourth cup cold water. Add to one-half cup boiling water and dissolve. Add one tablespoon vinegar and one teaspoon salt and cool. Add one cup diced cucumbers, one cup of red radishes, thinly sliced, three-fourths cup thinly sliced scallions, and one-half cup mayonnaise. Turn into individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold onto crisp lettuce or a bed of asparagus. Garnish with additional mayonnaise that has been whipped and thinned with a little tomato juice. This will make eight salads.

Molded Cottage Cheese
Different in flavor but delicious.

At its value, it does not appear to be an economy to stock up with four different kinds of sugar, but in the long run it is decidedly a saving gesture. Use granulated sugar for cooking; powdered sugar for frostings, cereals and iced drinks; tablets for hot beverages; and confectioner's sugar for icings.

Use dried corned fruit or fresh fruit in gelatin desserts. The latter is particularly well chosen at this time of the year when fresh fruits are plentiful and cheap. It added to the gelatin when it is partially cooked, the fresh fruit remains firm, and is especially palatable later when the dessert is served thoroughly chilled.

A pinch of baking soda added to the water in which vegetables are cooking, will keep them green and help cook them tender if they are not fresh.

When cooking lima beans or any other dry beans, add a pinch of baking soda and be assured that they will cook tender.

A Specialist of Blood Control... The Man Who Likes to Work

FROM out of Minnesota's gopher prairie country, President Roosevelt has chosen a man as head of the Tennessee Valley Authority. He is Arthur E. Morgan, since 1922 president of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio.

The tall, rangy, professional-looking Dr. Morgan, now fifty-five years old, simple almost ascetic in his habits ended his formal education with a high school diploma. Notwithstanding, he has won high distinction as a civil engineer and educator. One of his innovations was that a college student should split his time between classroom and a job. This idea is featured at Antioch College.

As to his qualifications for his new position, he is a notable authority on blood control, having planned and supervised the construction of seventy-five water-control projects.

When he was nineteen years old, Mr. Morgan left school because of poor eyesight. He set out to make his way on his own by working his way to Colorado, doing odd jobs on farms, logging and working in a print shop. Three years later he returned to Antioch and went to work for his father in a small engineering practice. In this connection he frequently had to deal with law-making bodies governing waterways and drainage laws. In 1905, he wrote the laws governing this type of work and his draft was accepted by the Minnesota legislature.

In 1909 he was made a trustee of Antioch College, then without a president and persuaded the board of trustees to permit him to reorganize the institution. With twenty-five years of experience in engineering, engineering education, he had found that many of the young college graduates he knew were either technically trained and lacking in cultural interests, or vice versa. The Antioch program today is an expression of Dr. Morgan's belief that college should prepare its students to meet all the problems of life.

Building up and maintaining high standards for an institution with endowment has been no light undertaking. Dr. Morgan counts his greatest achievement in national and international developments. During the past year in an effort to relieve local and regional unemployment, he has organized two exchanges, graduate making a possible transfer of funds and services without the use of money.

When he received his appointment from the President, Dr. Morgan was president of the Case School of Applied Science.

NEW YORK'S emergency relief committee had the task of raising $24,000,000 and distributing it in the most judicious manner to the distressed citizens. Now the job is finished and a word of commendation is due Harvey D. Gibson, committee chairman.

According to legend, Harvey D. Gibson led his way through Bowdoin College by directing an orchestra. Since those days he has made it a point to direct something or other. In music, during the World War, when a carload of ether was blown up near the front-line trenches, transport officers sat by the side of the road and surveyed the damage. "It's just too bad," they said, "guess all we can do is wait for more cars, truck repairs and ether." But Mr. Gibson had other ideas. He commandeered several planes and got other to the hospitals in time for the next major operations.

On September 30, after three years of unremitting effort, the Emergency Unemployment Relief Committee will conclude one of the greatest philanthropic tasks ever undertaken by New York City. The pockets of philanthropy have bottoms and so the task of aiding the less fortunate through a period of stress must end much too soon.

Ever since his college days Mr. Gibson has not lacked for a job. Armed with a Bachelor of Arts degree he chose Boston as a good city to start his career. He got a job with the American Express Company and found himself with a broom in his hands. He literally swept his way to the position of assistant manager of the company's financial department and later, at the age of 34, became president of a large New York bank. The title of youngest bank president didn't suit him, so he became chairman of the New York County Chapter of the American Red Cross and a year later he was made general manager for the entire country.

He is now president of the Manufacturers Trust Company and even though he has earned success, he still likes to work and knowing this his fellow citizens usually have some job picked out for him to do.

FOR REAL FUN SERVE A MEAL OUT-OF-DOORS

By MARIAN MAYES MARTIN

PERHAPS you live in the country. If you have always done so the chances are that you have become fond of it. Once I visited on a farm in Canada where the women, as well as the men, worked like drudges. They saw no beauty in the fields of ripe corn or never stopped to look at the sunset. They had a collar, a lovely animal, whose amusement at being played with has never ceased to be remembered by me. He had been accustomed to amusing himself in the meadow with his grazing cattle, the sunset, and all the everyday sights of that farm. To the family it was only a "good" farm.

THOSE brought up on a farm usually long for the pavement, only having the urge to go back "after they have made their pile," which shows clearly that they had their roots in the soil all along.

BUT do you really enjoy this privilege of yours of living in the country? Do you ever stop to look at it, to breathe deep of it? Do you get the best out of your life there? Do you, for instance, know the joy of eating out of doors? Not necessarily picnic-fashion, to a running accompaniment of ants, but on your own broad veranda, or even on a table on the grass if you have no veranda. Listen to this: "Often we have luncheon on the veranda."

The butter is yellower for the sunlight. The lettuce crisper for the wind. Drinking our tea late-a-tete with the sun.

Stirs memories of clipper ships And the China passage.

THERE you are. Why not try with your next picnic, to serve the meal at the place of the day? Doesn't it sound alluring? Even if it's the same old summer, can't you see how much better it would taste served out of doors?

IT'S the city people who move to the country because they love it, that really show the nature of this thing or two about enjoying it. It's your city folk who set their tables on the veranda, or have their tea out-of-doors after the wholesome habit of the English.

IT is quite likely that, living in the country, none of your family make a habit of vacationing away from home. All the more reason why their vacation should be made to vary their program, and to change their habits from routine to something delightful because it is different.

IN some households all the doors are served out-of-doors during the summer, just as in some households breakfasts are always served on trays in the various rooms of the occupants. In others, and they are in the majority, meals are served invariably around the family board and are so lacking in spiritual flavor, and in the charm of the unexpected that the wonder is we are able to satisfy our appetites at all.

NO MATTER how well ordered a household, and how charming it is, always the better for an occasional change. Try a few variations not only of the menu, but in the service of your meals, especially during these hot days when appetites have to be wooed. Half the pleasure of the much discussed beer garden, oh far more than half, is not in the beer but in the garden. Think of the allure of the sidewalk cafe, and even the pleasure many get out of picnics, either on the beach or in the fields. Doesn't this seem to prove that the human animal was living out of doors, or in any event living a good part of his life there?

TRY it on your family some of these hot nights, and soon see whether they are not delighted with the idea and want it repeated.

Keep Things Dry

To Prevent Mildew

Mildew literally comes out of the air, for it is a fungus growth which requires only darkness, dampness and warmth for its rapid development. To prevent mildew during the warm, humid months, it is important to dry thoroughly all garments and household linens before putting them into the hamper or basket to await laundering.

In a short time, mildew attacks the fiber, so that it is impossible to remove it in its later stages of growth. Only the mildew can be removed successfully from most colored goods.

STEEL TONNAGE DROP AFFECTS STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—UP—An old-time market barometer, the unfilled tonnage report of the United States Steel Corporation, today brought a halt to the 2½ day rally in stock market prices.

At the opening today the market started upward swiftly. A few new 1933 peaks were touched. Good sized blocks came out.

No one had estimated that unfilled orders of the steel corporation would total $6,546 tons less than the preceding month, as the report showed and the rally stopped.

First there was heavy selling prices shot down. Some of the alcohol shares, which joined in the general down sweep, lost as much as seven points.

Then came dullness. A little revival of life brought prices up from their lows, but the close found prices lower and trading at a dull pace.

For the day there were 2,820,000 shares exchanged. Of these there were 292 issues higher, 327 issues lower and 148 unchanged. Dow Jones averages all were lower.

The break in share rally was reflected in the grain market in Chicago. Early gains were erased and wheat closed irregular.

Cotton markets in New Orleans and New York showed losses of almost $1 a bale while many other commodities were lower.

Eagles Picnic At La Honda to Be Held Sunday

Members of Point Richmond aerie, P. O. E., met in Brotherhood hall last evening with Angelo Pellv presiding.

The meeting was largely taken up with a report on the aerie's drum corps picnic to be held in La Honda bowl on San Pablo creek road, Sunday, August 13.

Frank Marcollo, chairman of the committee, publicly thanked the donors from among the various merchants of the city of Richmond for supplying prizes for the various events to be held.

He also announced that according to reports received from the aerie of Contra Costa and Alameda counties large numbers of members and their families are expected to be in attendance next Sunday.

Judging from the interest taken by the local members in the purpose for which the picnic is given, that of obtaining money for payment of drum corps uniforms, the event will prove to be the most popular of the summer season.

It is to be an all day affair with free dancing, boating, swimming, numerous games for old and young including children and many beautiful prizes.

The committee in charge include Marcollo, E. H. Woodfield, Candy DeBoli, Henry Budis, L. Poloni, John Anglin, Joe Miller, William Gough and Pete Ciznich.

The aerie was later entertained with boxing bouts.

E. H. Woodfield was last evening elected delegate to the East bay council. At the last council meeting, announcement was made Frank Marcollo of Richmond was named on the speakers committee.

He was also named a member of the press committee and Richmond aerie was delegated to visit Livermore aerie in the near future.

The council will hold its next meeting at Seventh and Adeline streets, Oakland, on September 13.

Chamber of Commerce, said it appeared the transfer was in the interest of economy and efficiency Sacramento should persist in its opposition.

Earl Lee Kelly, director of the department of public works, was expected to announce formally tomorrow his decision to undertake the transfer.

HUNDREDS FLEE NEWFOUNDLAND FOREST FIRES

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Aug. 10.—UP—The 250 inhabitants of the village of Burlington, 220 miles northwest of St. John's, were forced to flee in boats onto Notre Dame bay today when a terrific forest fire sweeping down the coast in that vicinity, menaced the community.

The steamer Prospera steamed to their assistance.

NOEL, N. S., Aug. 10.—UP—Forest fires continued to eat their way through valuable timber lands and threatened towns and villages in three sectors of Hants county today.

The call for volunteers to fight the flames brought out nearly 750 men, assisted by the forest ranger. Every available man in the district was being rushed up to reinforce the firing men, while scores of women stood by the men in the battle.

The smoke rolled in heavy clouds ahead of the red flames, licking high into the dull, leaden sky, making the fire fighting work dangerous and difficult.

Code Agreement Violators Face Official Whips

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 10.—UP—Violators of NRA code agreements will be "prosecuted vigorously" within two weeks, George Creel, district administrator of the recovery program, said today.

In a drive to force re-employment agreements signed by more than 100,000 employers in California, Nevada and Utah, Creel will go after the "big fellows" first, he promised.

"We won't tangle with thousands of little employers until we make examples of the big fellows who are flaunting their agreements," he said.

"Employees and labor organizations are ferreting out and reporting violations."

After two weeks of grace, in which employers may complete their reorganization, the drive against offenders will be started, Creel said.

Small detachments from the Mulhouse garrison were sent to Hunnicke, Kembs and Chalamppe where only isolated customs posts previously were maintained.

At Chalamppe the troops occupied defensive works along the Rhine. At Kembs they are guarding the electric plant and the spa over the Alsace canal.

At Hunnicke they are watching the bridge where Chancellor Hitler's brown shirts held an anti-French demonstration late in February, shouting taunts.

Carter Speaks At Pittsburgh

Congressman Albert Carter delivered the main address yesterday at a joint meeting of the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce and Rotary club, held in the Los Medanos hotel.

Carter gave an intimate description of President Roosevelt, a discussion of the NRA program, and powers conferred upon the president.

The speaker declared that congress willingly conferred upon the president the broad powers with which he has been clothed to cope with the emergency and declared that congress can reduce or extend the scope of his authority as it desires.

W. J. Buchanan, county supervisor, presided over the session. Mayor Hugh Donovan delivered the address of welcome to Carter, and Thomas Carlson of Richmond gave a splendid talk on what Carter has accomplished as a congressman.

Harvest Starts On Peach Crop

MERCED, Cal., Aug. 10.—UP—Harvest of the 1933 peach crop reported one of the best in years, started in full swing today on the world's largest peach orchard.

The California Packing company began shipping 30 cars of fruit daily to its various units. Twelve hundred men, in camps scattered through the 2700-acre orchard seven miles east of here, were employed to pick the fruit.

At the peak of the season, an average of 70 carloads will be shipped each day.

Girl Murderer Questioned By S. F. Officers

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 10.—UP—Belief that Roy Mann may know something about other killings led authorities today to examine records of unsolved murders in an attempt to connect him with the crimes.

Mann, who sports two notches in his .15 calibre revolver, calmly confessed killing a woman known as Patsy Burns. He gave no reason other than "I just went haywire."

He insisted the notches in his gun had no meaning, but Sheriff Don Cox believe the youth's record should be investigated thoroughly.

"We've already caught him in a number of lies and he won't tell us any more than he has to," Cox said.

"Mann was completely indifferent about the Burns murder. He is the typical type of cold-blooded killer," San Francisco officers came here today to interview Mann and learn what he knows about the murder of Paul Hanson, who died trying to defend his sweetheart, Alice Olson, from attack while they were parked near a golf course.

It was pointed out Mann formerly lived in the same vicinity where the Hanson murder occurred.

FRENCH TROOPS GUARD RHINE

MULHOUSE, France, Aug. 10.—UP—Armed French troops were again stationed on the German frontier near here as a precaution against alleged aggressions of German Nazis, such as occurred early this year at Hunnicke.

Small detachments from the Mulhouse garrison were sent to Hunnicke, Kembs and Chalamppe where only isolated customs posts previously were maintained.

At Chalamppe the troops occupied defensive works along the Rhine. At Kembs they are guarding the electric plant and the spa over the Alsace canal.

Union President Hurls Challenge At "Open Shops"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—UP—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, hurled a challenge today to the large group of "open shop" coal operators who are opposing unionization.

Speaking at the second day's hearing on the bituminous coal code, Lewis claimed the right under the national recovery act to organize every coal field in the country. Going a step further, he announced that this had been started.

Lewis topped his challenge with a warning that any obstructions to the fundamental purposes of the recovery act would be met with a show of force by union labor.

If employers practices promote discord, he said, employees would have no alternative "but the undesirable one of using their collective system to force recognition of their organization and its representatives."

To his support came operators of union mines in the central fields in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio and Illinois representing by various estimates, between fifteen and 25 percent of the nation's soft coal tonnage.

Hollender Named County Chief of Recovery Drive

NEW YORK INSIDE OUT By DON O'MALLEY

NEW YORK, August 10.—Miss Ed. The curtain came down as the Verna Burke was once "the toast of the town." Pretty, petite and last curtain for Verna.

After years for months a bed-ridden cripple, the doctor made his tragic decision. She could never dance again, there were internal injuries that couldn't be played with. She had taken the gamble that all daredevils take—and lost.

Verna retired from the life she loved, but the old urge to dance wouldn't let her alone. One afternoon at a theatrical rehearsal she sat watching one of her many imitators doing her own routine and wondering why she well, either. The boy, but as it always happens, on his first excursion away from home and trouble he had to pick up the wrong girl. She was connected with a shake-down game, and led him on with a view to extortion.

With his family out to town the poor old boy set out to play the roadhouses and hot spots like his successful brethren in the world of business. In the privacy of a curtained booth one night, his little friend was doing so well that the business man failed to hear the click of the camera.

A few days later he had a caller, a very ugly fellow with a bulge in his hip pocket.

"You Smith," he inquired curtly.

"I am. What can I do for you?"

"Well, I got some pictures here the newspapers might like. Thought I'd auction 'em off. He pulled out a snapshot. "For instance. How do you like this one, Mister?" It was the snapshot taken at the roadhouse.

When he saw the photo, the elderly playboy lit up like a floodlight.

"Sweet," he exclaimed. "I can't be better. I'll take six."

When he had the picture in his hand, Verna could not be cured of her love for the stage. She simply couldn't resist the temptation to have a look at the snapshot.

Verna took singing lessons, trained passionately. In part of the act she had her voice by the hour with the one of her partner. It was in part of the act she had her voice by the hour with the one of her partner. It was in part of the act she had her voice by the hour with the one of her partner.

A successful New York business man has been seen often of late playing around with a certain girl "on his night at the club." Who are we to cast stones? But, as it always happens, on his first excursion away from home and trouble he had to pick up the wrong girl. She was connected with a shake-down game, and led him on with a view to extortion.

HE ISN'T SO
HOT ABOUT HAVING
A 'DOUBLE'. NOW
THAT HE FINDS IT
COSTING HIM ONE
GRAND PER WEEK
TO HIRE HIM—
IN FACT, HE NOW
WISHES HE HADN'T KICKED ABOUT THE SLADTICK SCENES

A three-panel cartoon by Charles Frazier. In the first panel, a man in a dark suit and white shirt stands on the left, looking towards a small boy on the right. The boy is standing with his hand to his chin, and a thought bubble with a question mark is above his head. In the second panel, the boy is alone, still in the same pose, looking thoughtful. In the third panel, the man is on the left, looking surprised with his mouth open. The boy is on the right, holding out a small pill bottle labeled 'ASPIRIN' towards the man.

I'VE GOTTA MAKE UP MY MIND WHETHER TO TACKLE THOSE ROUGH SHOTS MYSELF OR GO ON PAYING THAT HASH HOUSE OWNER $1000 A WEEK TO TAKE THE WALLOPS FOR ME!

THEY KEEP THINKING UP MORE AN' MORE ROUGH STUFF TO PUT IN TH' FILM—THINGS THAT NEVER DID HAPPEN TO ME— FOR INSTANCE

—THEY PROPOSE TO HAVE THE GANGSTER PUNCH ME IN TH' SNOOT AND KNOCK ME OFF A TWO STORY BUILDING INTO A NET— WELL— GOSH—

—WHAT IF THE NET SHOULD BREAK!?!?
